EXPERTISE

During her 25-year career at Lockton, LaVonda has held many client-facing positions. As a Unit Leader within Lockton Financial Services, she specializes in financial institutions, credit unions, trust companies, mortgage servicers and other financial service operations. It is LaVonda's responsibility as a Unit Leader to ensure resources are deployed appropriately and to mentor her team throughout the marketing and account-handling process.

LaVonda is well-respected throughout the financial services industry for her dedication to risk management and specialization in executive risk and professional lines of coverage, including areas of fidelity, fiduciary and master trust coverage, as well as mortgage servicing and impairment.

LaVonda has developed professional relationships with all of our insurance partners who write financial institution business and works closely with each of them on developing policy language as well as bringing those partners into difficult claim situations.

She regularly attends the annual ABA Risk Management conference and is a friend to the National Trust Real Estate Association, allowing her to keep up to date with the risks facing the financial institution industry. She has over 38 years of commercial insurance experience, specializing in financial institutions and other financial service operations.
